BROOKLYN, 9; CHICAGO, 7. Five thousand spectators had their money's worth at Washington Park yesterday afternoon. They looked at an intensely exciting but poorly played game, in which the Brooklyn's defeated the Chicagos, and also were witnesses to flagrant outbursts of rowdylam on the part of the visitors, which was wound up by an assault upon Umpire Swartwood by "Big Bill" Lange, the largest player in the profession. After two bours of play, seven innings had been completed, and as Swart wood, who officiated alone, wished to avoid a tangle by further prolonging the game with darkness coming on, he called it. It was then nearly 6 o'clock, but many of the spectators thought another inning could be played. The Chicagos were sure of it, and promptly took a rush at Swartwood, who was making his way to the little gate in the front of the grand stand.

The sun aint gone down yet!" relied Everitt, grabbing the umpire by the shoulder. What kind of a deal is we gettin'? Hey?"

"You're a thief and I can prove it!" screamed Griffith, who had been sitting on the bench. Swartwood pushed the infuriated players off and several policemen ran to his assistance Big Lange then grabbed the umpre's right ear and tried to twist it off at the same time throwing all his weight upon Swartwood's back. It looked like an attempt at "strong arm," and was pronounced a cowardly piece of business. The police finally pulled the players away and the much abused umpire was permitted to go to his dressing room. This attack was the climax of a series of kicks that prolonged play. Everitt, Lange, Taylor, Merits. Donahue, Mazoon and Chance took turns at picking flaws in the umpire's work, and altogether gave an exhibition of disorder that was picking flaws in the umpire's work, and altogether gave an exhibition of disorder that was a diagrace to the Calcago Club. Hunt, the assistant umpire, was called away before the game by the sudden death of his son.

The Brooklyns won chiefly because of two and three-baggers by Kelley, Reeler, Jennings and Anderson when there were men on bases. Hughes was so wild and ineffective that after five innings he was succeeded by McJames who was hit rather hard, too. Both sides made errors of the schoolboy type, and also accomplished a number of superb plays. Kelley pulled down a terrific drive that looked good for a home run with one hand, while Merlis gathered in a smash close to the right field fence after a short sprint. Charley Farrell astounded the crowd by receiving a swiftly pitched ball on the side of the head and never turning a hair. Curley split a finger and Donolne wrenched his ankle, which compelled them to get out of the battle.

Jennings's three-bayger sent Keeler home in the first inning. Kelley's triple in the second scored three more runs as the bag-were filled at the time. With this good lend, the home team began to go to pieces and in the third the visitors made three tallies on a base on balls, a hit batsman, two sale drives, two wild pitches and an error by Farrell. The Chicagoes assumed the lead in the fifth with two runs due to a biss-on-balls, a passed ball, two singles and a sacrifice. The Brooklyns tied it in the last half when Anderson's three-bagger hustled Keeler across the plate. Four runs were chalked up for the Brooklyns in the sixth on a hit by pitcher which landed on Farrell's head, an error by Taylor, Kelley's two-bagger and a hot three-base-hit by Keeler. In the seventh the Chicagos got two singles and a four three-base-hit by Keeler. In the seventh the Chicagos, we wish with a free netted two runs. But for Kelley's great cutch in this finning, mentioned above, the visitors might have tied the score or won. The score:

ST. LOUIS, G; NEW YORK, O.

Cy Young pitched a great game against the New Yorks at the Polo Grounds yesterday, holding the locale down to four hits and no runs. Doyle was the only New York player to reach third, and all told but three nien got past first. The nearest the New Yorks came to reaking the chain of ciphers was in the sevsails inning when three men were left on the bases. Notwithstanding that Gettig was hit hard in the first and second innings, he was kept in the lox until the fifth, when Schreck, Cross and Wallace banged the ball for two bases each, which brought in the last runs of

lases each, which brought in the last runs of the game.

In the sixth inning Johnson, formerly of the Newark Club, replaced dettig but the game did not continue long enough to show whether the new pitcher was capable of holding up his end in League company. In the two innings pitched by Johnson only one bit was made by St. Louis, but the pitcher was not steady, sending two men in succession to first base on balls. He pulled himself nicely together, however, and the last two men were retired, leaving three men on the bases. The score.

Opinions of Four Yachting Experts From England and Scotland.

Four yachting reporters who have just arrived here from Great Britian to cover the international races between the Columbia and Shamrock, occupied a box at Washington Park yesterday and for the first time saw a game of baseball. They were the guests of the club officials. After the fine points had been explained to them by THE SUN man, they freely expressed their opinions in writing. John M. Fearon of the Glasgow News had these views:

"I have now sampled baseball is great and the greatest thing about it is the spectators. The great American language. elastic as it is on the tongue of an expert, is a medium all too mild to render the feelings of a baseball enthusinst. There are sports at which the spectators play a passive part, but baseball is not of these. Every man who joins a baseball crowd feels that it lies upon him to contribute his share to the entertainment Every motion on the part of the players brings a response from the crowd and the response is couched in language such as Prof. Gardner never met in his ex ploration of monkey land. "Yeh! Yeh Yeh! Wow! Wow! Hooo! are the wor!s of cheer and encouragement but no stenographer has ever yet been trained to wrestly with the sounds of adverse criticism and the only attempt to record it by phonograph ended n disaster to the cylinder. The superlative degrees of this adverse criticism are reserved for the umpire who seems to be used principally as a dumping ground for abuse. The treatment of the umpire by a baseball crowd is a palpitating proof of the evidence of free speech in America. Therefore long live baseball and more power to the lungs of the baseball erowd." This is a statement of W. G. Kirby of the

This is a statement of W. G. Kirby of the London Tymes:

"A nervy game! Eye, brain and muscle all needed and brought to a wonderful pitch of perfection. The physical development of the players was magnificent, and what struck me as remarkable was the quickness and alertness of such big men. A combination of the cat and the elephant. Enjoyed every moment of the game. The difference between English cricket and American baseball is the difference between the briar pipe and a Virginia eigarette. Each have their own points of excellence. The umpire earns a Victoria Cross every other minute."

atte. Each have their own points of excellence. The unipre earns a Victoria Cross every other minute."

R. M. Smith of the Glasgow Herald said:

"A devotee of Scottish Association football finds the excitement of baseball too little sustained for his taste. He wants to see the members of both teams work all the time before he thinks he has had the worth of his money, and the salaries of the strikers seem to me all too inadequate for the constant risk of life, but as I dare say clubs pension widows and orphase of deceased players, the compensations may be regarded as not so unfair after all. My only disappointment until now is that the referre has not had a brick or two thrown at him for his manifest onesidedness. In Sectiand he night by this time have required a cordon of police about him. In this particular you might learn something from the Old Country."

The opinion of C. Bray of the Central News of London is as follows:

I think the game is a very fine one. It is intensely exciting and every nerve and muscle of every player is brought into the results of the control of the control

"I think the game is a very fine one. It is intensely exciting and every nerve and muscle of every player is brought into use. The pitcher has converted his duty into a science, and no man can indulge in the game unless he be a splendidal earound athlete."

After the game the visitors were introduced to Manager Hanlon. They looked at him in astonishment when they heard that his salary was $10,000 a year.

VARUNA'S BIG REGATTA.

Twenty-fifth Anniversary of the Club Celebrated at the Bay Ridge Boat House. A quarter of a century ago yesterday the first regatta ever held by the Varuna Boat Club took place off Bay Ridge, and yesterday the anniversary was celebrated with an old-time Varuna day that rivalled its palmiest predecessor in point of attendance, raing and decorations. There was excellent music rendered by a string orchestra, and dancing followed the sport on the water.

The race of the day was the four-cared gig event in which the three crews kept about a foot apart all the way and finished in that position amid great exertement and hearty cheering. The fifty yards swimming race for the city chambership and the senior double scull events were postponed until this morning, owing to the exhausted condition of the competing oursmen. Summary:

RACES ON FLUNHING BAT.

Last "Ladies' Day" of the Season of the Knickerbocker Y. C.

Members of the Kuickerbocker Yacht Club entertained their friends at their clubhouse on Flushing Bay yesterday, the occasion being the last ladies' day regatta of the season. There was a big attendance and all of the competing yachts carried enthusiastic yachtswomen who, however, somewhat hampered women who, however, somewhat hampered those at the helm. Although the races were announced to begin at 3 o'clock sharp, it was 4 o'clock before the starting gun was fired. Eleven boats took part in the race. The course was eight miles, triangular, from starting point opposite clubhouse, to and around a stake boat near Barretto's Point, thence to and around a stake boat at Clausan's Point.

The winning sloops were: Combination class—J. J. McCue's Nautilaus; J. D. Billard's Tempest, second. In the thirty-foot class—shown Porgie, Capt. John G. MISS JANE YATMAN STARTS TO RIDE SEVEN CENTURIES.

To Win the Honor She Covets She Must

Complete the Distance in 84 Hours-

Kramer Wins Two Races at White Plains

The K. C. W. Club Championships Unwilling to sacrifice her laurels as the champion woman century rider. Miss Jane C. Yatman started last night to ride seven consecutive centuries within eighty-four hours Miss Yatman is one of the best known of the habitual women century riders and seldom misses any of the runs that leave the city. She has ridden a number of double and triple centuries, and until this summer stood at the head of the list, because a triple century was the best performance of any woman before this season. Early in the summer Mrs. Irene Bush became the record holder by reason of a 400-mile ride on the road in forty-eight hours. Miss Yatman did not allow a fortnight to pass before she started out and succeeded in again taking the lead by reason of a quintuple century ride. Then Mrs. Mary Lindsey cellpses her by a sextuple performance and Miss Yatman, with characteristic ambition and spunk. is out to regain her prestige. The course she will follow is the officially surveyed one of the Century Road Club on Long Island, a triangular sort of a trip from Valley Stream to Hemp stead. Miss Yatman's headquarters dur ing the ride will be at Valley Stream. where State Centurion John T. other officials of the Century Road Club check the time and distance travelled. Miss Yatman will be liberally paced by tandems and other multiple machines during her trip. She is a young woman of slight build, weighing about 110 pounds, and does not in any way look strong enough to have earned the long string of century bars that she possesses.

The annual club races of the Kings County Wheelmen were held yesterday afternoon on the stretch between Milburn and Hempstead, L. I. The events were a mile open, half-mile handleap and two-mile handleap. George Schofield took two of the three races and might have won the other had it not been that his wheel slipped in the sand when he started. The one-mile races which was for the club champlonship was run in two preliminary hears and a final and the men made a lockeying affair of it each time. In the two-mile handleap the finish was so close that some thought it a dead beat. The course was fast, the races well manaked, and fine aport was furnished to a crewd along the road, half of whom were from Brooklyn. Summary:

New Haven, Sept. 10.—Halfa dozen diamonds and several gold watches were stolen last night from the store of the Douglas Shoe Company. The gwols were the property of the New Haven Wheel Club, a member of the National Cycling Association. They were the prizes effected for the aniual races of the club on next Saturday. The total value was about $700.

Read conditions for riding will improve from the until after the first heavy snow. The season for trips and long aunts is now at hand. It is the time to go to the somewhere that every when rider has had in mind for many months. The weekly report of the L. A. W. says that the Central Park drives are poor, many of them heing in process of repairing. The liverside driveways also are not what they should be. Other parts of the report are given intelligibly, at least, as follows:

"Seventh avenue north of 110th street is fair. Lawrence street at Amsterdam avenue is impassible. Eighth avenue from Fifty-uinth street to 150th street is fair to good. Jerome, Sedgwick, Baley, Al-xander and Willis avenues are all fair. 138th street from the bridge to Third avenue is dangerous. White Plains avenue is being repaired at Wakefield and Williamsbridge. The roads of Mt. Vernon. New Rocnelle and Yonkers are fair. The roads of Westfield, N. J., are all good. Warburton avenue, Yonkers, now open to Hastings, is level, in first-class condition and stords a fine view of the Hudson River and the Palicades. The unaendam roads of Long Island are free of dust. The country roads are lard and first class. Sidepaths and eyele paths are excellent ait over the island. The South Shore (Merrick Road) is fine. The Public Action Committee of the Associated Cycling Clubs of Long Island sent to The Bun yesterday the full report of its action in relation to the cycle path on the bridge. The committee consists of Theodore Kiendi, Bamuel Andrews, George H. Gardiner and Michaol Furst, the last named acting ex-officio. The report was anocompanied by a letter from Klendi, a Brooking and who has been admitted to the bar. He says that the committee thinks Engineer Martin houset and correct. The report adds that Engineer Martin always treated us fairly and considered all we had to say with natience and good faith. These are the sentiments that have made the report odious to the wheelmen who know about it.

The Lytle Wheelmen of New York are scheduled for a club run to Far Bockaway to-day.

The Madison Wheelmen's regular schedule run for to-morrow will be a monilicht run, starting from the clubbonse at 2:80 F. M., to Fort Hamilton and Bergen Point, N. J., returning via the Hudeon County Boulevard.

The third annual Nenthry run of the Bay View Wheelmen of Newark will be run to-day to New Brunswick and return.

For some time to come cyclists will have trouble at the East Twenty-third stress ferry. There is a new streat being opened there by the city which when completed will afford these awheel an easy glide from First avenus to the river, but meanwhile those who seek to cross the river after dark must exercise their caution when approaching the ferry-house.

Sunday cycle race meets will hereafter be a regu-lar feature on the track at Guttenberg. Those who won the six day races in the Madison Square Garden have been holding consultations every day this week trying to dayler plans for a campaign of aport in the Garden this winter that will not conflict with the law.

LAWN TENNIS

the Eastern Team Play More Exhibition

Matches at Scattle. SEATTLE, Wash., Sept. 16. - The second day's xhibition matchesat the Seattle Lawn Tennis Club here yesterday produced much finer play than the first. Again the local experts were pitted against the visitors in the morning and again they were all beaten. Wright beat Hurd, the champion of the Pacific Northwest, and Ward beat Foulkes, the champion of British Columbia, neither of the Westerners get-ish Columbia, and the exhibition double ting a set.

In the afternoon another exhibition double was played between Whitman and Wright and Davis and Ward, the latter pair winning in straight sets, Then came the surprise of the day, Champion Whitman being beaten in an archibition match by Dwight Davis after an exhibition match by Dwight Davis after an day. Champion Whitman being beaten in an exhibition match by Dwight Davis after an exciting three-set match. The champion tried to stay back too much in his court and Davis's fast net play proved too much for him.

The Easterners will end their tour to-morrow and Tuesday with a series of exhibition matches at Victoria, in British Columbia. Yesterday's scores follow:

Pesterday's scores follow: Exhibition Singles—B. C. Wright beat G. A. Hurd, 6-1, 8-4; Helcombe Ward Feat J. F. Foulkes, 6-3, 6-4; Dwight Payis beat M. D. Whitman, 6-3, 3-5, Fig. 1. F. Davis and Holcombe Ward beat M. D. Whitman and B. C. Wright, 6-2, 6-3.

Results in the Hudson River Tennis Tourney. There was only one match played yesterday afternoon in the championship tournament of the Hudson River Lawn Tennis Association, on the courts of the Park Hill Country Club, at Yonkers. This contest was the final in the men's singles and was also for the Washington Irving challenge cup. C. S. Batt, of Sleepy Hollow, easily outplayed his opponent at every point in the opening set. He held the net throughout the match and by using a strong forehand stroke held Robertson, of Park Hill, at the back of his court. Only in the second set did the Park Hill player make any showing. He led at 5-4 and 40-30, but lest the necessary point on a lobb out of court. He was unable to go to the front again and Batt won in the last set rather easily. As Mrs. W. H. Pouch of Powelton did not appear to defend her trophy in the women' event, the title passed to Miss Alice Ewing of Sleepy Hollow by default. The scores follow Men's Champtonship Singles, Final Round-C. S. The Orange Lawn Tennis Club's championship still remains undecided, although l'aret and Miles spent most of yesterday afternoon playing the challenge match for the club trophy. Paret disposed of Conway in the finals early in the afternoon and half an hour later went in against George Miles, last year's champion. The latter took the first set, but Paret got the second and third. set, but Paret got the second and third. Play was continued without any rest as darkness was threatening and Miles evened up the score by taking the fourth set. There were no new balls on hand for the deciding set, and the light was fading fast, so it was finally agreed to play the match over again on Tuesday afternoon. The scores: Championship Sinvles-Final round-J. P. Paret, beat W. P. Conway, 4-d., n.-d., 5-d., 4-d., c., 6-d., 7-6., 1-6. (infinited). of the state of th 8-6. Semi-final Round-T. Tom Sharkey insisted and gained his poin that a loser's end be inserted in the articles of agreement which bound the contest between himself and Jim Jeffries. When the papers nimself and Jim Jeffres. When the papers were first signed it was stipulated that the victor should get all the shoils. Sharkey was satisfied, but when he came to consider it he thought 25 per cent, would be quite a bain in the event of his being defeated. So a meeting was bely resterrly whereby this special clause was inserted, the change was only granted after Sharkey agreed not to wear and agrees on either hand.

Whether the pattle will be held in the evening or in the day time is not definitely known as yet.

Philadelphia Bents New York by 110 Runs - King Bowls Well.

The cricket match between representative eams of New York and Philadelphia was finished yesterday on the grounds of the Staten Island C. C. at Livingston. New York received a good chance to win after disposing of the Phiadelphians in their second inning for 135 runs, but the local batsmen falled to solve the speedy trundling of J. B. King, and they suffered defeat by 110 runs. King was in grand form with the ball in the second inning. The wicket crumbled to some second inning. The wicket crumular to some extent and the batamen played his argerly delivery with anything but confidence. With the exception of Mr. R. Cobb, there all failed against him. King took seven wiekess for thirty-eight rune, which, with his performance in the first tuning, gave him a joint for the match of thirteen wickets for eighty-nine runs, an average of 184 per wirest.

runs, which, with ma period and a second inning, gave him a joint for the match of thirteen wickets for eighty-nino runs, an average of 184 per winket.

Cobb played in splendid style for New York and successfully resisted the attacks of the bowlers for one hour and a half, during which time he compiled forty runs. With the exception of C. P. Hur litch, who added thirteen, no other player scored double figures. Cobb also bowled in fine style and captured five wickets for thirty-one runs. J. N. Henry did some good hitting in the second inning of the Pollastelphians, and N. Z. Graves played well for twenty-two. The other men, howevel, were easily disposed of, and the total of 135 fell far below expectations. The score:

Columbia Starts For Bristol.

The Columbia cast off her moorings at New Rochelle at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon and started for Bristol under her own sail. It is said she may only remain at the Herroshoff yards four or five days.

The Cup defender's tender, the St. Michaels, left for Bristol about the same time as the sloop, but neither Mr. Issiin nor his guests with her. They remained at New Rochelle to witness the race for kneckabouts for which Mr. Iselin had offered prizes. There were four starters: The Nora, owned by Louis Iselin; Hope, owned by Adrian Iselin, son of the Columbia's managing owner: the Kingfisher, owned by Young Belmont. The contest was referred by Herbert C. Leeds, while t. O. Iselin and Capt. Woodbury Kane acted as judges. The Hope won first prize, a gilver cup charging the Kingfisher won the second prize, a smaller silver cup.

Asahi Wins a Sweepstake.

NEWPORT, Sept. 16.—There was a sweepstake race to-day between the Co-footers, which was won by the Asahi sailed by Liord Warren. Five boats started over the Dyer's Island rive boats started over the Dyer's Island course, which in the southerly wind made it a run out and a beat home. The Carolina set the start and held it on the run up the bay, but on the wind both Asahi and Vaquero III, weathered her. With the exception of the Experians, which was sailed by W. Butler Duncan, Jr., the owners sailed their own yachts. Summary:

members won every event at the annual championahingames of the Canadian Amateur Athletic Association at the Rosedalo Athletic grounds this afternoon. American athletea have always made a line showing at these contests, and have assaily broken a Canadian record or two, but they never in the history of the association made such a clean sweep of the programme as was done by the New York Club's contingent 10-day. Canada's best athletes atubbornly contested every event, but the New York men easily won the twelve events on the list and took second piace in four while Canadians were second in eight.

The New Yorkers established new Canadian records in three important events. In the running broad jump the former record was 5 % inches below Kraengielia's effort to-day. In the hammer-throwing event Flannogan beat the record by several inches and in the running high jump to-day's distance was about 1's inches over the Canadian record. Several tacue and people witnessed the games and applauded Kraenslein's splendid work in the hurdie and the broad jump. Summary:

Smashed the Potato Race Record.

Boston, Sept. 1d. -At the annual field day of Boston, Sept. 16.—At the annual field day of the Knights of Columbus at Combination Park this afternoon, J. J. Crowley of the East Boston A. A. made a new resert for a pointe race in the time of 31.2.5 seconds. Crowley held the old record of 32.1-5. Arthur Duffy of Wordes-ter defeated "Bills" Holland of Boston College in a special 120-yard race, and also beat J. d. Peters of Yale in a special 100 yard race. The winder's time in both events was slow.
